Bell Boy

The bellboy is responsible for making a good first impression on hotel guests, carrying luggage, guiding guests to the room and acting as a concierge.

These needs include everything from arranging transportation to the airport to booking dinner at the best restaurants.

"Concierge makes the impossible possible."

Bellboys need to be friendly, responsible and have good customer service skills. This task is one of the main contact points for hotel guests and handles tasks such as sending letters, bringing meals into the room, and providing information about local attractions.

If the bellboy does not help guests, it may help keep the hotel lobby area tidy and clean. This can affect the image of the hotel, and guests may reject such a hotel, even if other physical facilities are leading. We provide bellhops with dedicated training to ensure they meet industry standards.
